

Regal Long Short Australian Equity Fund

JULY 2022

The Regal Long Short Australian Equity Fund returned 5.7% in July, compared to an increase of 6.0% for the ASX 300 Accumulation Index. After a difficult June, the majority of spot commodity markets stabilised in July, as investors digested commentary from a number of major global miners that reiterated excessively tight supply constraints across a variety of base and bulk minerals, alongside an improving outlook for broader global economic growth. While underperforming global counterparts, Australian equities posted positive months of performance, the ASX 200 rising 5.7% and the ASX Small Ordinaries increasing 11.4%.

By sector, Financials, Information Technology and Industrials were the largest contributors to returns, while Healthcare, Consumer Staples and Consumer Discretionary detracted from returns. A swift recovery in investor sentiment in July drove strong outperformance in a number of small and mid-cap positions within the Fund, particularly across companies that had experienced declines through the previous month on little news flow. This included an overweight position in sales enablement software business Bigtincan (+55%), after the company reported a pleasing quarterly update, alongside overweight positions in location-based app provider Life360 (+59%) and enterprise software provider FINEOS Corporation (+36%). A strong rebound in resource equities in July contributed positively to returns, including positive contributions from overweight positions in copper-gold producer OZ Minerals (+6%), graphite producer Syrah Resources (+19%) and gold explorer Tietto Minerals (+55%). Key detractors were focused in the short portfolio, including short positions in bulk miners and emerging life sciences businesses.

OUTLOOK

Rising global inflationary pressures and an increasingly hawkish US Federal Reserve have combined to drive significant price dislocations across a number of asset classes through the first half of 2022. Within equity markets, rising bond yields have created valuation headwinds for unprofitable growth businesses and companies with a longer duration to first cashflow. While global economies have remained largely resilient through the equity market sell-off, it is likely that the second half of the year will prove more challenging as increasing cost pressures, tight supply chains and the rising cost of debt inevitably begin to erode economic growth rates. Rising levels of inflation and ongoing structural supply challenges have, however, continued to create a supportive environment for a number of global commodity markets, with increasingly attractive supply/demand fundamentals. Companies engaged in the extraction of these commodities will likely continue to benefit from sustained higher prices, with overweights currently held across bulk material, energy and precious metals producers.

STRATEGY

The Regal Long Short Australian Equity Fund (the "Fund") aims to outperform the S&P/ASX 300 accumulation index net of fees over a rolling five-year basis by investing in the Regal Australian Long Short Equity Fund (the "Underlying Fund"). The Fund is suitable for investors with an investment horizon of five years or more. The Underlying Fund aims to have a tracking error of 4 – 8%.

Regal Funds Management Pty Limited ("Regal" or the "Manager") selects stocks for the Underlying Fund primarily using a Four Step Stock Selection Process. To value shares, companies are researched from a fundamental perspective to derive their intrinsic value. The Manager incorporates key insights from different styles of investing (e.g. fundamental, market driven, technical) to determine position weightings. The Underlying Fund is also able to take advantage of the Manager's expertise and systems to apply a process called 'short selling' which allows the Underlying Fund to express negative views on stocks which are expected to underperform.

As per the Fund's TMD, this product is suitable for consumers with a high or very high risk/return profile.
