Sharemarket Commentary

Global equity markets endured a volatile end to the month, with the MSCI World index finishing November -1.6% lower. Investors were concerned that the emergence of a new Covid variant, Omicron, could derail the global economic recovery as several Governments around the world responded with new travel restrictions. News that the US Federal Reserve could start removing its stimulus programmes earlier than previously expected also weighed on equity markets. Fed Chairman Powell told lawmakers it is time to drop the word 'transitory' as inflation becomes more persistent. The US S&P500 index slid -0.7% for the month, masking the -4% fall in the final week of November, whilst Europe's Stoxx 50 index and Japan's Nikkei fell -4.3% and -3.7% respectively.

Yield curves across the globe continued to flatten, as bond investors positioned for interest rate hikes ahead of expectations in light of inflationary pressures. In the US, the gap between 2yr and 10yr bond yields fell to 0.8%, the lowest level in nearly a year. On the domestic front, September quarter GDP fell -1.9%, representing the third steepest fall on record, courtesy of the Government's enforced lockdowns. Commodity markets felt the brunt of uncertainty surrounding Omicron, particularly the price of oil which fell -16% as concerns intensified as to how Governments would react to the new variant. The price of iron ore slid -7%, whilst copper, often a bell weather for global manufacturing activity, fell -4%.

The Australian sharemarket as measured by the ASX300 index endured a volatile month, finishing -0.5% lower. Sector performance was mixed, with the Energy sector falling -8% in sympathy with the softer oil price. Despite the lower iron and copper prices, the Materials sector rebounded strongly with the iron ore majors staging a relief rally on news that Chinese steel mills are preparing for an easing of production cuts. Within the industrials segment, the Communications Services sector did well, led by Telstra which was well supported by its share buyback and news that its $1 billion a year Defence contract to deliver critical network services had been renewed. The Consumer Staples sector also enjoyed a solid month, with the major supermarket chains all announcing better than expected like-for-like sales and improving online sales growth. On the negative side of the ledger, the Technology sector was weak as steam came out of many stocks as investors sought more defensive, reliable companies. The Financials sector was the biggest detractor over the month falling -6.9%. The share prices of Westpac and CBA dropped -18% and -11% respectively off the back of both banks earnings being affected by a sharp compression in their net interest margins, as record low interest rates and fierce competition in mortgage pricing took their toll.

The Investors Mutual All Industrials Share Fund had a disappointing month shedding -1.3% although ahead of the benchmark's -1.5% fall. IAG's share price fell following a downgrade to short-term earnings expectations due to an abnormally high number of weather events. While IAG may experience short-term earnings volatility, in our view the company's long-term fundamentals remain sound. Orica's share price retreated, following a strong rise over the past three months, as investors took profits after the company released its FY21 results. These results showed that the company is on track to record better profits in the years ahead thanks to a combination of improved efficiencies, better product pricing and a recovery to normal volumes post-covid lockdowns. The Fund's holdings in companies such as Telstra, Steadfast, Nine Entertainment and Crown (which bounced strongly as Blackstone made a new $12.50 takeover offer) all enjoyed a strong month.

Over the month we took advantage of strong share price performance to take part profits in AusNet (under takeover), Event Hospitality and Incitec Pivot. We deployed the proceeds to top up our holdings in Brambles, United Malt and Suncorp.

In the short-term, investors continue to cast a wary eye over the possibility of new restrictions being imposed by Governments as the new Covid variant continues to grab the media's attention. However, as we head toward 2022, we believe sharemarkets will be primarily influenced by the direction of interest rates as central banks continue to mull over whether current inflationary trends are transitional or becoming embedded. As such, we continue to steer away from the riskier parts of the sharemarket and remain focused on identifying and holding what we assess to be good quality companies, that we believe are well managed, which offer sound value, and which can do well over the next 3-5 years.
