

Fund Profile

Antares Elite Opportunities Fund

January 2021

Fund description and investment return objective

The Fund is an actively managed concentrated portfolio of equities listed (or expected to be listed) on the Australian share market. The Fund's objective is to outperform the Benchmark (after fees) over rolling five-year periods.

Fund commentary

The Antares Elite Opportunities Fund delivered a return of 0.8% (net of fees) for the month of January 2021.¹

Australian shares made modest gains in January. There were solid gains for consumer discretionary, communication and financial sector shares with the view that the Australian consumer is now experiencing improving prospects. However, these gains were countered by weakness in real estate investment trusts and industrials.

Performance was boosted by overweight holdings in Westpac (WBC) and Telstra (TLS) and the decision not to own Fortescue Metals (FMG). The banking sector was buoyed by the spike in bond yields following the democrat wins in the US Senate election in Georgia. Also supportive have been recent earnings upgrades that have been mostly due to lower bad debts. WBC was the strongest performer. During January TLS provided prior performance figures based on its new product reporting framework. The new framework was flagged in November 20 and will provide greater transparency, especially as TLS moves to restructure into three legal entities – InfraCo Fixed, InfraCo Towers and ServeCo. After a strong run, the iron ore price finally pulled back and with it the share price of FMG which is a pure iron ore producer.

Detracting from performance were decisions not to own Wesfarmers (WES), Afterpay (APT) and NAB. The release of buoyant November 20 Australian retail sales (+13.3% on Nov 19) and signs of increasing consumer confidence saw WES shares perform strongly in January. Similarly, buoyant retail sales and increasing consumer confidence, combined with APT's entry into the S&P/ASX 20 in December, were positive for APT's share price.

Australia's economic data continues to strengthen, suggesting encouraging prospects for the new year. Strong job gains as well as optimistic business and consumer surveys suggest that the Australian economic recovery is gathering pace. Signs that Sydney's virus outbreak is contained also provided a positive impulse. However new variants of the coronavirus and slow rollouts of vaccines globally have tempered this optimism.
