SECTOR ALLOCATIONS<sup>3</sup>

FUND UPDATE

The Advance Australian Shares Multi-Blend Fund declined 2.85% on a net basis in May, underperforming the S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index which declined 2.76%. Domestic equities underperformed global equities, which fell 0.83% (MSCI World ex-AU). The RBA started to raise interest rates with a 0.25% hike in May. Rising rates and persistent inflation have remained headwinds to expensive growth stocks.

Pendal was the largest positive contributor to relative performance. The strategy is designed to perform in all market environments as it emphasises stock specific risk as the primary driver of returns. Stock selection was most rewarded amongst the portfolio’s cyclical names over the period, particularly in Consumer Discretionary. Platypus was the largest detractor. The manager invests in companies with underappreciated growth prospects, which typically results in the portfolio carrying higher valuation risk. In addition to the manager facing style headwinds, its stock selection in Financials detracted heavily.

From a sector perspective, the underweight to Financials was the largest contributor to relative performance. Conversely, the overweight to, and negative stock selection in, Communication Services was the largest detractor. At a stock level, the overweight to Santos was the top contributor, while the overweight to Goodman Group was the largest detractor.
