

After two months of gains, the Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index declined by -11.2% in September. Outperforming its index, the Eley Griffiths Group Emerging Companies Fund finished lower -9.6%. Since inception (March 2017) the Fund has returned +13.7% p.a. after fees for unitholders.

Equities were routed when the US August inflation reading topped expectations, quashing investor confidence that a US Federal Reserve (Fed) pivot was conceivable. The Fed's response was a predicted 75bp rate hike. What surprised the market was the hawkish "whatever it takes" commentary from Fed Chairman Jerome Powell accompanying the decision. The market sold off as a more aggressive rate tightening schedule was priced in.

Strong demand has seen both Mining Services and IT Infrastructure sectors hold up against the volatile macro backdrop. Positive Investor sentiment toward Mining Services continued in the month with portfolio holdings Mader Group (+2.1%) and Monadelphous Group remaining resilient. IT infrastructure holding Data#3 Limited (DTL; +3.5%) moved higher upon posting strong revenue growth over FY22 as large companies and government agencies picked up the pace to migrate to cloud-based infrastructure. The demand outlook is promising, DTL's CEO Laurence Baynham stating "we continue to experience a steady increase in the pipeline of large integration project opportunities".

Detracting from performance, MA Financial Group Limited (MAF; -30.1%) was sold down as Australia's Significant Investors Visa (SIV) scheme was called into question by Home Affairs Minister Clare O'Neil. SIV's are a meaningful contributor to MAF assets under management.

Looking ahead, Global transport giant FEDEX, a bellwether US stock for sensing the pulse of the global economy and consumer demand, cut guidance as changing economic conditions start to bite. Similarly, Apple Inc ditched plans to increase production of its new iPhones after demand fell short of expectations. With signs of economic fragility proliferating, investors are debating when the Fed will blink and slow or pause rate hikes. At time of writing early October, the Reserve Bank of Australia bucked the global trend by slowing the pace of interest rate increases sparking a market rally.

ELEY GRIFFITHS EMERGING COMPANIES FUND

The Emerging Companies Fund offers investors exposure to a diversified portfolio of Australian listed emerging companies that reside outside the S&P ASX200 Index. The Fund is benchmarked against the S&P ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index and was launched 1 March 2017.

The team combines fundamental bottom-up research of companies with an in-depth qualitative assessment of their management and industry structure. Our proprietary investment process, known as SCOPE (Small Company Optimal Portfolio Evaluation), is a relative stock scoring tool that ranks stocks from highest to lowest based on their score. The portfolio comprises the best scoring stocks, subject to a number of risk constraints, such as maximum active position size (7%) and liquidity.

The outworking of this process is a portfolio that typically exhibits both growth and value characteristics that aims to outperform through the market cycles.
