Monthly commentary

Megaport Ltd (MP1) outperformed on no news flow following the release of its 3Q results the month prior. Monthly Recurring Revenue accelerated in 3Q, growing 14% QoQ. This was driven by higher yield primarily, due to Cloud VXC repricing implemented in March. MP1 issued guidance for the first time, expecting EBITDA of A$16m-$18m in FY23 vs. consensus of A$9m, and A$41m-$46m in FY24 vs. consensus of $30m, driven by cost-cutting initiatives.

IDP Education (IEL) underperformed as the Canadian government opened up its SDS immigration visa requirements to 4 new English language tests, increasing competition for IDP's IELTS business. It is uncertain how much market share IELTS could lose over the next few years, however market estimates point to a 8-15% EPS impact. While this is a negative development, IELTS remains a business with high barriers to entry that are not just regulatory in nature. There is a large ecosystem of referral partners and test preparation providers surrounding the IELTS test that we think will ultimately limit the impact. We are also positive on the company's competitive position with the recent launch of One skill retake as well as the favourable equivalency ratings of the IELTS test.
