

Realindex Australian Share Value-Class

A

Monthly Factsheet

30 April 2023

Portfolio Description

The portfolio invests in Australian shares by selecting and weighting companies based on fundamental measures of company size.

Investment Strategy

Realindex forms a universe of Australian companies based on accounting measures. Factors such as quality, near-term value and momentum are applied to form a final portfolio of companies. The resulting portfolio has a value tilt relative to the benchmark and provides the benefits of being lower in cost, lower turnover and highly diversified compared to traditional active investment strategies.

Investment Objective

To provide capital and income growth by investing in Australian shares and outperforming the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index over rolling five year periods before fees and taxes.

Realindex Australian Share Value returned +1.25% (net of fees) during April, versus the S&P/ASX 200 benchmark which returned +1.85%.

Value stocks outperformed Growth stocks by 1.7% over the month (S&P Australia BMI Value +2.7% vs. Growth +1.0%). Over the past year, Value performance has been in line with Growth, but lagged on a five-year basis by 0.5% p.a. providing a longer-term performance headwind.

The Australian share market ended the month mildly higher. Information Technology (+4.8%) and Financials (+3.3%) sectors performed well, while the Materials sector fell by 2.6% due to a 16% drop in the iron ore price. Consumer confidence increased in April due to the RBA's decision to pause on an interest rate increase, but confidence remains largely weak. The unemployment rate is 3.5%, and the inflation rate is 7.8% as of March 2023.

The portfolio's overweight allocation to the Materials sector resulted in a large detraction from performance, from both a sector allocation and stock selection effect. In particular the portfolio's 2.2% average overweight to Fortescue Metals detracted 20bps of performance, as did the overweight to BHP Group, detracting 8bps. Compounding the poor performance was the portfolio's underweight to the Health Care sector. More specifically, the underweight allocation to CSL resulted in a 13bps detraction.

On the flip side, the portfolio's overweight to the Financials sector was positive for performance with the portfolio's overweight allocation to three of the four big four banks (ANZ, Westpac, NAB) contributing positively to performance.

The portfolio offers a valuation discount to the market-cap benchmark, as measured by price-to-sales (33.7% discount), price-to-cashflow (23.2% discount), and price-to-book (8.8% discount), as well as a dividend yield higher than the benchmark (19.5% premium).

Note: Percentage figures in parenthesis show total return in Australian dollars for the month ending 30 April 2023 unless otherwise noted.

Performance returns are calculated net of management fees and transaction costs. Performance returns for periods greater than one year are annualised. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

Data as at: 30 April 2023

Portfolio Beta measures the portfolio's sensitivity to benchmark movements. Mathematically, it is the covariance of the portfolio vs the benchmark divided by the variance of the benchmark.

Turnover is the average of sales and purchases divided by the average portfolio size. Cashflow Adjusted Turnover is the same as above, except that the lesser of sales and purchases is used in place of the average of the two. This is to adjust for turnover that is related to investing inflows or selling stocks to meet outflows rather than related to active management of the portfolio.
