Actual asset allocation<sup>3</sup>

Fund update

The BT Wholesale Multi-manager Growth Fund produced a negative return over the month of September.

Higher-than-expected US inflation has spurred a risk asset sell-off as the market recalibrated to higher interest rate expectations of 4% and above in the US by the end of this year with less likelihood of rate cuts in 2023. The Federal Reserve delivered its third consecutive 75 basis points rate hike and moved its target rate to a range of 3.00%-3.25%, the highest level since 2008. Energy concerns continued to plague Europe, German CPI was reported at 10.9% year on year and pressures remained for European central banks to turn more hawkish. Financial markets turmoil was further fuelled by the UK government's fiscal plan and its ramification on UK gilts market.

The domestic equity market, as represented by the S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index, returned -6.3% over the month. International Equities, as measured by the MSCI World ex Australia Net Return AUD Hedged Index, returned -8.9%. Unhedged international equities returned -3.2%, outperforming hedged exposure as a result of a stronger USD. Emerging Market Equities, as measured by the MSCI Emerging Markets EM AUD Net Total Return Index, returned -5.9%.

Listed properties sold off as higher interest rates weighed on valuations. Domestic listed property as measured by the S&P/ASX 300 A-REIT Index returned -13.6% and global listed property as measured by the FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed AUD Hedged Net Total Return Index, returned -11.8% over the month.

Fear of contagion elevated bond market volatility. UK 10yr gilt yields moved 129bps up to 4.09%, joined by a 57bps increase in German 10yr yield and 62bps increase in Italian 10yr bond yield. The US 10-year Treasury yield also moved 64bps higher to 3.83% over the month and the Australian 10-year government bond yield moved 29bps higher to 3.89%. Credit spreads also widened. As a result, the international fixed interest market, as measured by the Bloomberg Barclays Global-Aggregate Total Return AUD Hedged Index, returned -3.5%; and the domestic fixed interest market, as represented by the Bloomberg Ausbond Composite 0+ Yr Index, returned -1.4%.

Over the month both growth and defensive oriented portfolios had negative results.
