Market Commentary

The S&P/ASX 300 A-REIT Total Return Index produced a total return of -1.8% for the month ended 31 May 2023, outperforming the Australian equities market (S&P/ASX 300 Total Return Index). The portfolio underperformed the index.

After pausing in April, the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) unexpectedly hiked interest rates in May by 0.25% to 3.85%. Later in the month the unemployment rate rose from 3.5% to 3.7% but the monthly inflation indicator came in above expectations.

Within A-REITs, office and industrial outperformed while the diversified and retail sectors underperformed. Whilst house prices rose for a third consecutive month, residential developers generally underperformed after recent strong performance amid the renewed prospect of higher interest rates.

Outperforming A-REITs included fund manager Home Consortium (HMC), which announced progress in capital raising efforts for new healthcare and retail funds, and office landlord Dexu (DXS) which provided a quarterly update in which office occupancy increased by 0.1% to 95.4% and tenant incentives moderated. The Portfolio's underweight positioning in both stocks detracted from relative performance.

Underperforming A-REITs included retail landlords Vicinity Centres (VCX) and Scentre Group (SCG). VCX upgraded FY23 earnings guidance to the top end of the prior range, which represents 11% growth, aided by recovering ancillary income. For the first time since 2018 leasing spreads turned positive. VCX also announced the sale of a 50% stake in its Broadmeadows regional mall at a ~4% premium to book value. Proceeds will fund developments.

Weighing on retail sentiment was likely several discretionary retailers (i.e. tenants) reporting slowing sales. The portfolio's overweight positioning in both stocks detracted from relative performance.

Operating conditions remain favourable for industrial landlords with market rental growth buoyed by low current vacancy and tenant demand exceeding supply. Rent growth is offsetting capitalisation rate expansion, supporting valuations.

Goodman Group (GMG) upgraded FY23 earnings growth guidance from 13.5% to 15%. Although development work in progress fell 7% the $7bn p.a. production rate remained stable. Development margins are attractive and GMG is doing more development on balance sheet. Higher returning data centres now constitute 30% of the pipeline. Other landlords including GPT (GPT) and Centuria Industrial REIT (CIP) also reported accelerating double digit industrial re-leasing spreads. Underweight positioning in GMG, predicated on relative valuation, detracted from relative performance, whilst underweight positioning in GPT contributed.

Self-storage and office landlord Abacus (ABP) announced revaluations ahead of its proposed creation of an externally managed storage A-REIT. Self-storage values rose 2.6% whilst office/retail fell 5%.
