Fund commentary

The Russell Investments Conservative Fund outperformed the benchmark in the June quarter.

The Fund's fixed income portfolio contributed positively to performance, with both the Russell Investments International Bond Fund – $A Hedged and the Russell Investments Australian Bond Fund recording positive absolute and excess returns for the quarter. The two funds benefited largely from their overweight to credit. Also adding value was our exposure to the Russell Investments Australian Floating Rate Fund, which performed well on the back of strong running yield and credit spread income. An overweight to global listed property, which outperformed the broader global equity market over the period, added further value. Meanwhile, within our global equity portfolio, both the Russell Investments Tax Effective Global Shares Fund and the Russell Investments Multi-Asset Factor Exposure Fund delivered strong absolute returns for the quarter. However, the two funds narrowly underperformed their benchmarks over the period. This was due largely to their value exposure, as investors tended to favour quality and growth names over more cyclical, cheaper value stocks. It was a similar theme within our Australian equity portfolio, with the Russell Investments Australian Shares Core Fund, the Russell Investments Australian Opportunities Fund and the Russell Investments Australian Factor Exposure Fund all recording strong absolute returns for the quarter but underperforming their benchmarks.
