<sup>2</sup> The distribution return reflects income paid from the Fund, whilst the growth return reflects changes in the capital values of the units.

Growth of $10,000

Fund commentary

The Russell Investments Diversified 50 Fund outperformed the benchmark in July. The Fund's equal weighting to growth assets like Australian and global equities, and income assets like Australian and global bonds drives returns.

The Fund's equity portfolio performed well over the period. In terms of global equities, the Russell Investments Tax Effective Global Shares Fund (TEGS) and the Russell Investments Multi-Asset Factor Exposure Fund (MAFEF) delivered positive absolute and excess returns for the month. TEGS' outperformance was driven in part by stock selection in the US, including overweights to Meta Platforms (formerly Facebook) and Uber Technologies, while MAFEF benefited from its value and growth factor exposures. Within our domestic equities portfolio, the Russell Investments Australian Shares Core Fund and the Russell Investments Australian Opportunities Fund also recorded positive absolute and benchmark-relative returns in July. Both funds benefited from stock selection within the materials space, including an underweight to iron ore major Fortescue Metals Group. The Russell Investments Australian Factor Exposure Fund performed in line with its benchmark; though absolute returns were positive. Within the Fund's traditional fixed income portfolio, the Russell Investments International Bond Fund – $A Hedged and the Russell Investments Australian Bond Fund delivered positive absolute and excess returns for the month. Both funds benefited from a long-held overweight to credit. In terms of our extended fixed income exposure, Metrics Credit outperformed government bonds over the period, with Australian loans continuing to generate income-like returns. Global floating rate credit and the Russell Investments Australian Floating Rate Fund also performed well. Meanwhile, a weaker Australian dollar (relative to the US dollar) boosted the returns of the Fund's assets denominated in foreign currency.
