Market and portfolio review

The S&P/ASX 300 AREIT Accumulation Index rose 1.4% in March. The ramifications of the war in Ukraine are adding further pressures to the global supply chain.

The ten-year bond yield launched 70 bps to 2.84%. Real interest rates by comparison "only" jumped 51 bps but moved firmly into positive territory, finishing at 34 bps. The difference between the nominal and real yield derives the implied inflation expectations, which saw a 20 bps shift up to 2.50%. Similar moves were also witnessed globally, as the interest rate hiking cycle gathers momentum, to deal with the still escalating inflationary pressures.

The Australian dollar rose another two cents in March, finishing just shy of US$0.75. Once again, the strength of the commodities constituents greatly assisted, with Australia more generally being a relative haven globally.

Global REITs outperformed the AREITs, generating 4.7% in returns primarily driven by strong performance of US REITs. The general market (via the S&P/ASX 300 Accumulation Index) outperformed both the AREITs and Global REITs once more, delivering 6.9%, as Australia's commodity-heavy and banking sector bias on the ASX saw it outperform the present market environment.

Future investment strategy

We continue to target Australian Real Estate Investment Trusts (AREITs) that provide solid fundamentals over the medium-to-long-term that are trading attractively relative to other AREITs. Overall we endeavour to invest in entities that offer a combination of:

- ? A Net Present Value ("NPV") Discount;
- ? An Internal Rate of Return ("IRR") Premium;
- ? Ideally a (Real, not manufactured) Free Cashflow Yield Premium; and
- ? A Lower Price to Net Asset Value ("NAV").
