Fund management commentary*Market Review

Equity markets rallied following a widely anticipated 25 bps rate hike from the Fed and a more hawkish outlook statement. Hope of a thawing in the Russia-Ukraine conflict likely contributed to the positive sentiment in the second half of the month, which saw growth stocks and yield-sensitive plays outperforming. Global REITs (FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Developed NTR, +4.5%) outperformed equities (MSCI World, +2.8%) and global bonds (Barclays Global Aggregate, -3.0%). The 10-year U.S. bond yield soared 60 bps. The Americas was the best performing region. Europe was the main laggard. APAC property stocks had positive performance.

Fund Review

Exposure to China realty services companies was a top detractor, as the region's markets continues to be pressured. Overweights to U.S. homebuilders and manufactured homes detracted. Underweight to malls contributed as they underperformed on fears that discretionary spending could be dented. Selection within U.S. apartments contributed due to our preference for coastal apartments over Sunbelt-focused portfolios.

Market Outlook

Energy shortages and supply chain bottlenecks are raising concerns over inflation persistence forcing the hand of central bankers around the world to taper or embark on rate hikes, even as uncertainties remain over the spread of the omicron COVID-19 variant and as markets grapple with the fallout from Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Meanwhile, both earnings and global GDP growth will decelerate this year. The government-induced slowdown in the Chinese economy is an additional overhang on the global growth outlook. Concerns over the trajectory of rate hikes and quantitative tightening, coupled with uncertainty over the growth outlook, geo-political risks, and margin pressures from inflation, have driven recent volatility in equity markets.

Portfolio construction remains focused on bottom-up stock selection. We are mindful of potential swings in sentiment driven by dynamic macro news flow that can drive style shifts causing performance leadership to flip between different groups of stocks. While we have historically favored structural growth stocks, in the past year, we have been opportunistically reorienting toward value and cyclicals. We maintain a core of structural growth stocks, which we believe have pricing power given strong demand-supply fundamentals and should be well positioned to weather any growth slowdown.
