Fund commentary

The Russell Investments Global Opportunities Fund (AUD hedged) underperformed the benchmark in the June quarter.

Contributing to the Fund's underperformance was poor stock selection in the US, including an underweight to NVIDIA Corp. and an overweight to Micron Technology. Our broader underweight to the US market also detracted from returns, albeit modestly. An overweight to emerging markets, which underperformed their developed counterparts over the period, also weighed modestly on performance. This included overweights to South Korea's Samsung Electronics and China's Ping An Insurance. Performance was further impacted by our active positioning strategy (APS). Our APS was positioned in favour of value and quality to complement our strategic factor positioning. Value underperformed growth over the period, though this was partly offset by our quality exposure. In contrast, the Fund benefited from strong excess returns from our Japan equity specialist, Nissay Asset Management, and UK equity specialist, J.O. Hambro Capital Management. Stock selection within the communication services space was also positive for the quarter, including a short position in Japan's Softbank Group and an underweight to China's Tencent Holdings. Other notable positions to add value were overweights to Brazil's Petroleo Brasileiro SA and US ratings agency Moody's Corp. There were no material changes to either the Fund's structure or manager line up during the quarter.
