Monthly review

What happened in the market?

The Australian real asset universe outperformed the broader Australian equity market in July. The listed real estate market was up 3.9% in July (as measured by the S&P/ASX 300 A-REIT Accumulation Index). Infrastructure was up 4.1% in July (as measured by the S&P/ASX Infrastructure Accumulation Index). Utilities were up 4.0% in July (as measured by the S&P/ASX 300 Utilities Accumulation Index). In comparison, the Australian equity rose 2.9% in July (as measured by the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index).

What happened in the Fund?

The Fund was up 2.55% over the month of July. At the sector level, real estate was the largest positive contributor, followed by utilities, while infrastructure detracted.

At the stock level, positives within the Fund included electricity and gas retailer AGL Energy continuing its strong run post its earnings guidance upgrade in June, where management cited higher wholesale power prices and improved performance at its power plants since last year's extended outages. US data centre REIT Digital Realty Trust released its better than expected second quarter result which showed improved leasing activity and higher leasing spreads.

On the other side, rail infrastructure group Aurizon Holdings drifted lower during July following its rally during the prior few months. During July Aurizon held an investor day where it provided earnings guidance in-line with our expectations and flagged the potential to increase capex on new opportunities around Land bridging container movements from Darwin into the major capital cities. TC Energy Corp (TRP) which operates pipelines, storage facilities and power-generation plants in Canada, the US and Mexico, was weak following the release of its result. While the result was in-line with expectations, TRP fell on the back of the sale of its stake in its US gas pipeline business which was transacted on a lowish multiple. Additionally, there is some uncertainty around TRP spinning out its oil pipeline assets.
